

Paul's self-reliance had to be _____ before he could find the _____ that comes from knowing that God is able to do what we can't.

GRACE PEACE AND PRESSURE
II Corinthians 1:1-11

Peace comes from knowing that God can take care of _____.

Introduction:

During times of unrest and uncertainty we look for the promise of _____ from someone who can actually _____ it.

IV. THE SHARING OF PEACE

II Corinthians 1:11

_____ is giving expression to faith in God's sufficiency.

Our letter comes from an apostle with the _____ to deliver what he promises.

II Corinthians 1:1-2

We don't need to enlist the help of others to _____ God to do for us that which is according to His will.

_____ are those who have been sanctified, and that happens before we _____.

Paul is inviting the Corinthians to _____ in the _____ of answered prayer.

Chances are pretty good that this is actually the _____ letter Paul wrote to the Corinthians.

Grace, peace, and pressure do go together, and we _____ God for all three.

Everything God gives us, from _____ itself to our daily _____, comes from His
_____.

A heart that is confident of God's _____ and _____ is at _____.

I. PRESSURE LEADS TO GRACE

II Corinthians 1:3-4a, 5

Being granted grace does not mean we will be free from _____, only that we will be given the resources needed to _____ with it.

We are promised strengthening equal to the
_____ we face.

We'd never learn to _____ God if we didn't sense a _____ for Him.

We can bless the God who leads us to _____ through _____.

II. THE SHARING OF GRACE

II Corinthians 1:4b, 6-7

Our afflictions and our comfort enable us to
_____ to others.

When we are strengthened, we are able to strengthen _____.

Going through afflictions enable us to
_____ with others.

They also give us real opportunities for meaningful _____ in the Body of Christ.

III. GRACE LEADS TO PEACE

II Corinthians 1:8-10